Her Baptism Certificate identifies her as Lavinnia Ellen. (I think that there was a typo.) I have been told that her middle Name was really Elizabeth. I doubt it but I'll look at the source registry record in FamilySearch.

MARRIAGE:

Married at Episcopal Church of Good Shepard, Dedham, MA

S/o of John and Ellen Bright McCabe (from Canton Massachusetts marriage record). Death certificate shows his mother as Helen Malany. Obviously an error made by his son-in-law John MacDonald (Nellie's husband).

Notes for Emily Ann Andrews

Source: Elaine Boutilier:

She had eight years of schooling in Nova Scotia which was unusual for a girl of that time. She attended St. Mark's Episcopal Church.

Emma as she was called came to Boston through Maine by train to work for the Revere family in Canton with her cousin Ann MacDonald. They owned the copper mines in Nova Scotia and were descendants of Paul Revere. She told relatives many times how they told her if there was a fire to take a particular trunk out of the house because they belonged to Paul Revere. When she left there to be married they gave her a dowry of $300.00 and a trunk full of lace, linen, and curtains. Plus, a gone with the wind lamp and cruet set which family still has today. Also they have a letter written by Mrs. Revere and a picture.

She came from Boston by train with her dowry. George Henry Boutilier her husband was already here in Whitinsville, Massachusetts with his mother and brother.

Family believe she left Nova Scotia against her father's wishes and traveled by train with Lydia, and her future husband. She stayed in Boston, Massachusetts and they traveled to work in Whitinsville. She told family many times he walked to Boston to give her a pair of gloves for an engagement gift.

She raised her own eight children with impeccable manners and to be well dressed. She had a garden and sewed their clothes. She and her husband used to can and make sauerkraut for their supplies for the winter. Every Sunday afternoon after a large dinner she would lock the door and she and her family would walk up the Lackey Dam trail and have a picnic to find peace and quiet. They would gather cranberries and material to make baskets for the cemeteries. Her husband learned to make baskets as a child in Nova Scotia. She learned to use medicinal herbs as a child from her mother in Nova Scotia and gathered these too.

They spent their evenings gathering at home with music. Playing the piano and various instruments and singing. That was an important part of their life.

She took in various nieces and nephews as they came from Nova Scotia to get a start in the USA. Among them were Murray Andrews his sisters Nina and Pearl. Her husband's nephew James. Her mother-in-law Lydia.

The last but not least her two grandchildren that became homeless at the death of their mother - Joan & Elaine Boutilier.

Notes for George Henry Boutilier

He came to Whitinsville, Massachusetts on the train from Nova Scotia crossing the border in Vanceboro, Maine. He was employed in the Whittin Machine Works where he worked until he died. He was responsible for the improvements to the shuttle which he did not receive credit for because he couldn't read or write and had a friend draw up the plans and submit. His friend stole the rewards and the acknowledgement and in return just gave him a miter box. Even though he couldn't read or write he accomplished many things in his lifetime. He made Violins out of curly maple and made many boats. He sailed and rowed on the Meadow Pond in Whitinsville. He made miniature sail boats and raced them on the Meadow Pond. One is still in existence and in the possession of his granddaughter Lucille.

He played the violin, flute and zither. He could make fishnets and weave baskets.

He rowed across Meadow Pond from Border Street where they lived and tended a garden which he died - digging potatoes. He would put them in a bushel bag and carry them on his back to the boat. He was a very frail thin man. At the time of his death his daughter Ethel was with him and his granddaughter Joan who was five years old. She stayed with him in the wooded garden while Ethel went for help.

OBITUARIES

George W. Boutilier dies at 89- soldier, boxer, politician, critic

By GERALD S. GOLDSTEIN and MARTIN J. FUNKE

Journal Bulletin Staff Writers

NARRAGANSETT - George W. Boutilier, 89, of 73 E. Shore Rd., a scrappy citizen-watchdog who battled all his life - in the trenches of World War 1, in the boxing ring, and in the halls of government - died Wednesday at the Veterans Administration Regional Medical Center.

Feisty in his self-appointed role as a critic of government, whenever he felt it had become inefficient or callous, Mr. Boutilier also had a gentle side - he loved flowers and named a new strain of dahlia he developed for his wife.

And he saw government from both sides serving over the years as a city councilman and state representative In Pawtucket, and as a town councilman and tax collector in Narragansett.

But Mr. Boutilier was as much a part of government in his role as private citizen. At one meeting of the Town Council In Narragansett, he rose 71 times to shake a finger it officials and make his various points.

Affectionately dubbed "The Boot" in Narragansett by friends and adversaries alike. He was described once by an admirer as "a gadfly with the persistence of a mosquito in a dark room."

Even in his later years he continued to attend meetings and to champion a multitude of causes: tax relief for the elderly, protection of the town's salt marshes and conservation efforts to protect the pond scallops that he dearly loved to harvest and eat.

Mr. Boutilier's love of politics - and of a good scrap - absorbed much of his energy, even in the years most people reserve for more leisurely activities. In 1972, at age 76, he took over the reins of Narragansett's faltering Republican Party, and led it to an election victory.

Mr. Boutilier, a native of Whitinsville, Mass, was an Army hero in World War 1 and served in France as a motorcycle messenger with the American Expeditionary Forces, He was gassed twice, once badly enough to make him temporarily lose his eyesight.

He was decorated for valor when on Sept. 27, 1918, shell fragments plowed into his motorcycle and overturned it in a quagmire as he was attempting to get a message through. He got up, straightened out his handlebars and continued on his way.

All his life, Mr. Boutilier would proudly say, "I fought for freedom."

Mr. Boutilier was an accomplished boxer in the service, and although he never resisted a chance to say that "I had a good left and a good right" he renounced the sport because he came to believe that "it brings out the animal in man." The statement was indicative of sensitivity in his nature that blossomed especially in his flower garden, on the shore of Point Judith Pond In Narragansett's Great Island section.

His love of dahlias was so intense that he developed a strain of his own and named it the "Mrs. George Boutilier, in honor of his wife or more than 50 years, the late Gladys G. (Cooper) Boutilier.

Mr. Boutilier's vocation was as general manager of the Merchants Cold Storage Co. Providence. where he worked for 31 years. But it was as a governmental watchdog that he came into his own.

As the co-founder of a taxpayers' group, he spoke passionately against the mayoral regimes of Thomas P. and Ambrose McCoy in Pawtucket, and he was considered a pioneer in political reforms that came later in the city. In 1940, he broke a solid Democratic front, and became the sole Republican on the City Council, a foothold from which he attacked the Thomas McCoy regime as a "dictatorship."

He attacked the administration for allegedly handing out pork barrel jobs, for dispatching public works crews to do private work for politicians, and for maintaining inadequate police and fire departments.

A continuing thorn in the side of the city machine, Mr. Boutilier was once left literally in the dark. During a council meeting in 1943 - when he was in the middle of a passionate speech - the opposing Democrats adjourned the meeting and filed out of the council chamber, with the last one turning out the lights.

He was elected to the General Assembly from Pawtucket in 1946, running on an anti-corruption platform, and stepping down when his term was over. He moved to Narragansett as a summer resident in 1950, and quickly fell in love with the town.

When Hurricane Belle threatened to hit the area in 1976, he refused to leave when asked to evacuate the area.

Mr. Boutilier listened patiently while one state trooper urged him to leave, and then responded as to why he wouldn't. Turning to his garden, he said, "Look at the size of those dahlias - you won't see these every day."

The trooper gave up.

Mr. Boutilier was the son of the late George H. and Emma (Andrews) Boutilier.

He was a charter member of the Overseas Lodge 40, F and AM, and was also a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. When he lived in Pawtucket, he was a member of the Smithfield Avenue Congregational Church.

He leaves a daughter, Lucille B. Hacking, of North Kingston; two brothers; Ernest Boutilier of Whitinsville and Chester Boutilier of Harrisville; two sisters, Ethel Boutilier, Hildegard Johnson, both of Harrisville, and a grandson.

A funeral service will be held tomorrow at 11 AM at the Avery Funeral Home, 58 Columbia St., Wakefield. Burial with military honors will be in Quidnessett Memorial Cemetery, North Kingston.

Patricia wrote:

Clara Tracey married James Haley. They lived on Fifth Street in New Aberdeen. They are my father, Tom's parents. Da's other siblings were John (known as Bo), Mae (who was married to Clifford Daigle - he passed away in 1961, just before Christmas). Aunt Mae had ten children. Other siblings included Eddie and Gerard. Uncle Ed passed away last year in November. Uncle Gerard lives in Amherst. My Da, Tom, passed away in January of 1995 at age 67.

Clara was the woman who was in bed for a long time - however, it had nothing to do with lifting a bucket or anything like that. She had a problem with her spine. Today we believe she may have had rheumatoid arthritis, as it runs rampant in our family. Three of my sisters have it and one niece has juvenile rheumatoid arthritis. We believe that my da, Tom, may have had it also. I had to see a rheumatologist last year as some of my blood counts were elevated, but he didn't think I have it.

Patricia wrote:

Beatrice (Beattie) and Clara (my grandmother) who married the brothers Jack and Jim Haley. Beattie married Jack and they lived on Center Avenue in Number 2. Hannah Tracey (mother of Beattie, Clara and Anastasia and my great-grandmother) lived with Jack and Beattie until her death in January of 1970. I remember her, but only being in her bed downstairs at Jack and Beattie's house. I was in grade 2 when she died.

Also, getting back to Joan. Joan Macpherson Dorsay is my God mother. Since she lives here in Cape Breton, I just got off the phone with her. I promised her I would make the correction to you about her maiden name. She says that she had recently spoken with Dorothy.

The story behind Joan's husband is that he was born a Dorsay, but was raised by the Andersons. His name was Albert, but everyone called him "Baba." I guess he kept both names, but went by his father's name, Dorsay. That clears up that mystery, as I have wondered about that one myself! He passed away in 2002, just after I moved back to CB.

Background

This Modified Register Report is about the descendants of Susanna Margaretha Boutilier and John George Andrews who settled in Cox Heath in 1811. Both Susanna and John were grandchildren of couples who left Europe to settle in Nova Scotia as members of what is sometimes called the Foreign Protestant Migration of 1751. Susanna was the granddaughter of John George Boutilier and Sarah Grange. John Andrews was the grandson of Johan Andreas.

This is a change of pace because Susanna and John are not on my direct line.

Thanks to Family, Relatives, Friends, Family Historians and Fellow Genealogists:

Your generosity with your records is really appreciated. I tried to point-out in the Notes when there was information that was inconsistent. Any errors that remain are mine.

Gigantic amounts of records came from John Howie. Thank you for sharing. John also educated me on the Lunenburg County Personal and Family Genealogy Pages (now the Lunenburg GENWEB) with a focus on Kim Steven's pages. Thank you – you are in a class by yourself! Every once in a while, I open a copy of Kim Stevens' records and as usual I am always amazed. Kim is also one of a kind! We all should follow his example of sharing!

The late Charles "Chick" Buchanan also provided records. I suspect that Charles also provided a healthy amount of John Howie's information.

Also, General Donald Lewis provided a massive amount of records. Elaine Boutilier also a large number of records. If there is no source attribution to individual records, they were likely provided by Don and/or Elaine.

In addition, Dana B. Cobb, the late Greg Cummings, James Peach, Linda MacDonald and Patricia Tremblay were sources of many records. George Lawrence, a collector of obituaries, provided transcriptions of obituaries.

Finally, thanks to the following who have shared their research on Web Sites: Victoria Boutilier, Julia Baker and Robert Peach. Thanks to the Lunenburg County GENWEB Web Site especially Kim Stevens', Don Shankle's and Bob Hegerich's web pages on Lunenburg County Personal and Family Genealogy Pages. Their records were major sources.
