WIKI, WIKI Everywhere

- You've probably heard of Wikipedia, the popular online encyclopedia where you can find background articles on everything from Fig Newtons to Finland's former municipalities. The Web site is designed so anyone can contribute or modify content, following the philosophy that openness encourages more and better content.

The Growth of WIKI

- As Wikipedia grew, the open-content “wiki” concept spread to other types of content, including genealogy. The technology is a natural fit: Family historians are always seeking ways to collaborate.

Wiki – Post Its

- Wikis provide a platform for preserving and sharing our discoveries, creating repositories of reference material and comparing notes with others researching the same families—kind of like virtual Post-it notes.

A Crash Course of Wiki

- To give you a crash course in this genealogical collaboration trend, we offer this overview of three free family history wikis and how they can benefit you.

WeRelate

- The granddaddy of genealogy wikis is WeRelate, sponsored by the Foundation for On-Line Genealogy in partnership with the Allen County (Ind.) Public Library. With pages on more than 2 million people and families, WeRelate is the largest genealogy wiki—and it's geared primarily toward sharing family tree data. The goal is to encourage people to post their research on specific ancestors for others to find and add to, so everyone benefits from the collaboration.

Current WeRelate.org Home Page

The screenshot shows the WeRelate.org website in a web browser. The browser's address bar displays www.werelate.org/wiki/Main_Page. The page features a navigation bar with links for Home, Search, List, Add, My Relate, and Admin. On the right side of the navigation bar are links for Sign in, Create account, Donate, Volunteer, and Help. A search bar is located on the right side of the page. The main content area includes a welcome message, a list of links to watch tutorial videos, register, and start collaborating, and a featured page for Gen. George S. Patton III (1885-1945). The featured page includes a portrait of Patton and a detailed biography. On the right side of the page, there are three sections: Volunteer Opportunities, Questions & Comments, and Crowdsourcing Challenge. The Volunteer Opportunities section mentions a switch to a new admin structure and encourages participation. The Questions & Comments section provides links for support and feedback. The Crowdsourcing Challenge section highlights Memorial Day and includes a historical illustration of a soldier.

Below are four lessons that teach nearly everything you need to know about creating person pages on WeRelate, such as Person:George_Tuttle_\(1\). These pages can also be automatically created by GEDCOM upload.

For this lesson you will need the name of the ancestor for whom you wish to create a page, the name of one of their parents, the name of their spouse, their birth date and place, one source of information, and one already uploaded image. If you need help uploading an image, see the Images tutorial. Each lesson builds on the one before, so you will need to finish this tutorial in one sitting.

You may want to open a new browser window or tab, allowing you to both complete and consult this tutorial at the same time. Alternatively, you could print this tutorial page for your convenience as you work through the lessons.

- The site has several excellent video tutorials, each of which walks you through a specific task, such as how to create or edit a family page. Before beginning your wiki expedition, we recommend you watch the “helicopter ride” video, which gives a good overview of how the system works.

Familypedia

- Similar to WeRelate, Familypedia is a community-built repository of genealogy data: facts about people, places, sources and related topics. To date, users have contributed 25,000 articles (an article here is equivalent to a page on WeRelate). These range from people profiles (William Cowan, 1750-1809) to descendant reports (Eldert family of New Netherlands) to record transcriptions (1820 Every-Name Census Reconstruction for Green Township, Harrison County, Ohio).

Welcome to Familypedia!

About • Tutorial • Help

(The largest semantic wiki for genealogy.)

We are currently working on 223,371 articles and 337143 other pages.

Here you can keep your family history research organized, evergreen, accessible, and collaboration-ready.

Join us in this important and exciting work!

This is a place where you can create articles about your ancestors and can easily link them to other articles about relatives and where and when they lived. You can work wholly within this wiki, or you can link your articles to external sites on the world wide web. And because this is a wiki format, you can work collaboratively with others to create a network of articles about your ancestors and about those they lived and worked with — or simply about people you find interesting. It is our hope that, as this site grows, we will gradually be able to link our ancestors into a network that goes far beyond the simple nuts and bolts of who lived where and when.

The focus of this site is on capturing the details of the lives of our ancestors, both those historically significant people and the everyday people rarely listed in encyclopaedias, histories, or even "people's histories". Along the way, the site will also provide information about the historical and social context in which our ancestors found themselves.

This site aspires to be truly global, with active contributors and information from several cultures and languages, and all four Hemispheres.

We have some of the latest wiki software to make page display easy and minimize duplication of work.

A wiki is a type of website that anyone can edit. If you can type and click, you can edit almost every page on this Wikia site. (Pages you cannot edit include stuff for administrators, so you don't really need to be concerned about those.)

To edit part of a page, click the [edit] button on a section title. You can also edit a whole page at once using the "edit" tab or button at the top or side of the page. When the edit box opens, type away just as in a word-processing program (with minor variations). Then hit the Preview button, then the Publish button.

Obituary of Rev. Noah Alden

Alden, Rev. Noah, was born in Middleborough, Mass., May 30, 1725. On his father's side he was a lineal descendant from John Alden, famous in the early annals of the Pilgrims of Plymouth. Both himself and wife became members of the Congregational church in Stafford, Conn., whither they had removed. He changed his sentiments on the mode and subjects of Christian baptism in 1753, and became a member of a Baptist church. Feeling it his duty to preach the gospel, he was ordained at Stafford on the 5th of June, 1755, and was pastor of the Baptist church in that place for ten years. In 1766 he was installed as pastor of the church in Bellingham, Mass., where his ministry was attended with the Divine blessing.

Mr. Alden was active, not only in his special vocation as a minister of the gospel, but as a delegate from Bellingham to the State Convention; he did good service in drafting a constitution for the State of Massachusetts, pleading especially the cause of religious liberty. He performed also other acceptable service as a public man. As a wise counselor he was often called to adjust difficulties in churches, and to assist in the examination and ordination of candidates for the Christian ministry. Mr. Alden died May 5, 1797. "He was," says Dr. A. Fisher, "for many years one of our most distinguished and honored ministers, and his name deserves to be held

Ireland's Research Tools

The screenshot displays the FamilySearch website's Ireland research tools page. The browser window shows multiple tabs, with the active one being 'Ireland Online Genealogy'. The address bar shows the URL 'https://familysearch.org/wiki/en/Ireland_Online_Genealogy_Records'. The page is organized into three main columns. The left column contains a sidebar with links to 'Community Meetings', 'Wiki Support', 'Wiki University', and 'Contact Us', as well as a 'Tools' section with links like 'What links here', 'Related changes', 'Special pages', 'Printable version', 'Permanent link', 'Page information', and 'Cite this page'. The middle column is titled 'Church Records and Vital Records' and lists links for 'FreeBMD', 'About Ireland XO Parish Records', 'Message Boards Free Account', 'Indexes', and a section for 'Births, Baptisms, or Christenings; Marriages; Deaths or Burials'. This section includes links for 'Irish Records Extraction Database, 1763 - 1912', 'Ireland Civil Registration, 1864 - 1958', 'General index of births, marriages and deaths registered in Saorstát Éireann (Irish Free State), 1922-1958', 'Ireland Births and Baptism, 1620 - 1881', 'Ireland, Select Births and Baptisms, 1620-1911', 'Ireland, Civil Registration Births Index, 1864-1958', 'Ireland Marriages, 1619 - 1898', and 'Ireland, Select Marriages, 1619-1898'. The right column is titled 'Emigration, Immigration, and Passenger Lists' and lists links for 'Irish Canadian Emigration Records, 1823-1849', 'Irish Emigrants in North America 1670-1830', 'Irish Emigrants in North America 1775-1825', 'Irish Emigrants in North America, Part Four and Part Five', 'Irish Emigrants in North America, Part I', 'Irish Emigrants in North America, Part II', 'Irish Emigrants in North America, Part III', 'Irish Emigration Lists, 1833-1839', 'Irish Immigrants: New York Port Arrival Records, 1846-1851', 'Irish Emigration to New England through the Port of Saint John, New Brunswick, Canada, 1841 to 1849', 'Irish Passenger Lists, 1803-1806', 'Irish Passenger Lists, 1847-1871', 'New York Emigrant Savings Bank, 1850-1883', 'Irish Emigration Database, from ships records', 'Irish Canadian Emigration Records, 1828 - 1849', 'New York, Irish Immigrant Arrival Records, 1846 - 1851', 'Irish Famine Immigrants, 1846 - 1851', and 'Famine Irish Passenger Record Data File (FIPAS), 1/12/1846 - 12/31/1851, NARA'. On the far right, there are two more sections: 'Ireland Background' with links for 'Biography', 'Church History', 'Gazetteers', 'History', 'Languages', 'Maps', 'Names Personal', 'For Further Reading', and 'Ireland Background'; and 'Ethnicity' with a link for 'Jewish Records'. At the bottom right, there is a 'Local Research Resources' section with a link for 'Archives & Libraries'. The bottom of the browser window shows a taskbar with two open windows titled 'Researching+in+t...m...' and a 'Show all' button.
