Difficulties with Newfoundland Research – Few Primary Records

- Most researchers start with Census Records. Until 1921, there were no Census Records for the entire island.
- Researchers search for Official Published Vital Records: Birth, Christening, Marriage, Death, Obituaries and Wills. Until recently, there were few.
- Researchers search for Published Family Records. Some exist. I use them as clues for future research. My goal is to verify before I add them to my database. Sometimes I can not verify and end up updating my database. Conflict resolution is difficult.
- I attribute everything for an audit trail. Web Sites and their databases are identified uniquely from other sources.

Some of the Web Sites and Databases that I use to collect Vitals

- FamilySearch, Newfoundland Vital Statistics, 1753 – 1893 – (Lots of Christening and Marriage Records – Mostly Catholic. Images of the records are available to registered FamilySearch users.)
- Newfoundland Grand Banks: (1) Births, Marriages, Deaths and Wills; and (2) Official Lists. (Volunteers' Research. Free.)
- Ancestry, Newfoundland, Canada, Index of Birth, Marriage & Death Notices from Newspapers, 1810–1890 - (About 42,000 records. Ancestry is a subscription service and is available 24/7. Ancestry Library is free to users at many Libraries but is not available 24/7.)
- Ancestry, Public Trees -(Family Members' Research. Use with Caution. Verify everything.)
- StonePics - 250,000 Gravestone Photos on CDs that can be purchased. (Free Alphabetical listing). Free software download. (I downloaded.)
- Family History Society of Newfoundland and Labrador – 100,000 Cemetery Headstones (Members only, Current fee is $42 per year.)

Most of the following Screen Prints are for William Hogan (my ggg grandfather) who arrived in Newfoundland from Ireland about 1780.

There are a few screen prints for his descendants.

My Notes for William Hogan follow on this and the next slide:

Web Sites: Ancestry, Newfoundland, Canada, Index of Birth, Marriage & Death Notices from Newspapers, 1810–1890 (from Gertrude Crosbie's CD originally published by the Maritime History Archive of Memorial University); Plantation Book http://nl.canadagenweb.org/cbhg_pr1805-1-21.htm; Newfoundland Ancestor, Family History Society of Newfoundland and Labrador <<http://www.fhsnl.ca/> and Newfoundland Grand Banks, <http://ngb.chebucto.org/>

William supposedly emigrated from Ireland at age 20. He settled at Ochre Pit Cove in 1785 and moved to Northern Bay 8 years later. Note that in 1784, Catholics in Newfoundland were finally allowed to practice their religion, to own property etc.

I wonder whether he was initially a fisherman who returned to Ireland in the Fall - after fishing from the Spring (after Easter) to the late Fall.

The following is a cut and paste from the Plantation Book for Northern Bay:

http://nl.canadagenweb.org/cbhg_pr1805-1-21.htm

- “15 John Cummins and Thomas Fogarty, 138 yds. from E. to West bounded on the E. by Thos. Milley on the W. by himself 200 yds. from H.W.M.to the N. bounded on the N. by the Woods 1 Stage 1 Flake 3 Houses 1 Garden John Cummins & Thos. Fogarty Purchased from Wm. Mullowney for £30
Wm. Hogan " 1796”
- Note: William Hogan is to enjoy this room rent free during his natural life, then tis to devolve to Jno. Cummings and Thos. Fogarty and their heirs but if they should rent his room or dispose of it they are to give the heirs of Wm. Hogan the preference.”

My Notes for William Hogan (1761 – 1833)

In the Plantation Book, William is mentioned twice. In 1785, he rented a plot in Ochre Pit (Oaker Pits) Cove from Jonathan Parsons for 1 shilling per annum. In 1803, it indicated that he acquired a plot in Northern Bay. His plot was 65 yards (East to West) by 64 yards (South to North). It indicated that the plot was wooded and that he cleared the woods himself. John Johnson was his eastern neighbor and John Commins was his western and southern neighbor.

Jim McCarthy indicates that the Plantation Book has his birth as 1758. Gertrude Crosbie in her Birth, Deaths and Marriages in Newfoundland (published by the Maritime History Archive of Memorial University) indicates that he died on 20 Nov 1833 at age 72. That year and the age bothers me. One William is listed on the 1832 Voters List for Northern Bay, Bay de Verde District. If he were alive, I'd expect two Williams to be listed (he and his son).

The list included Patrick, Richard, James Senior, James Junior, James (McNamara), John and Joseph Hogan. James (McNamara) Hogan and Joseph Hogan. They are not on my lists of descendants of William, the Planter. His son James had a son James born in 1825. He would have been 7 at the time of the Voters list.

In the Newfoundland Ancestor, Volume 12 Issue 1 pp 13 -15, John O'Mara identified William as one of the first members of the Benevolent Irish Society founded in Carbonear. O'Mara lists all the members as of February 17, 1806 which includes the 74 Founding Members. William was one of two Hogans listed. It appears that he was the only one of the 74 not from Carbonear.

Finally, in Ancestry Public Members trees, William is identified as being the son of Patrick Hogan and Catherine Gaul. This is not verifiable because there is no citation. Based on the Irish naming pattern, a Catherine would have had one of William's daughters named for his mother. Also, other Public Member trees identified William's wife Elizabeth as Elizabeth Johnson possibly a daughter of John Johnson who was a Planter in Northern Bay. It is plausible but unverifiable.

Family History Society of Newfoundland and Labrador

Home About Us Activities Forums Membership Resources The Newfoundland Ancestor Publications Links

The Family History Society of Newfoundland and Labrador (FHSNL) is a not-for-profit organisation that was established in 1984, incorporated in 1987, and in 2013 became a registered charity. The main objectives of the society are:

- To help researchers locate and access genealogical information.
- To foster education and interest in genealogical research through symposia, discussion groups, and lectures.
- To give members opportunities to connect with one another and share their research interests.
- To encourage the production and dissemination of genealogical and historical materials relating especially to Newfoundland and Labrador.

Tracing your family history in Newfoundland and Labrador can be an exciting and rewarding process. A good first step is to gather as much information as possible from your relatives and from family documents. After that, public records can be used to trace the generations further back, often over hundreds of years.

After that, public records can be used to trace the generations further back, often over hundreds of years.

FHSNL can help you as you research your own family history. We publish a quarterly journal called The Newfoundland Ancestor that includes a variety of articles, including a section in which members are encouraged to publish their own research queries. We also regularly organise public lectures that feature guest speakers.

Our website has a growing collection of information that can assist with your family history research, including interactive forums as well as various materials that can be downloaded from our website (such as back issues of The Newfoundland Ancestor and audio recordings of our lectures). While many of these online materials are available only to FHSNL members, non-members can view a free sample issue of the Newfoundland Ancestor, as well as access an introductory lecture from our archived lectures.
